Remembrance Day Was Fittingly Held

Public Service Was Held Under Auspices of Local Legion

"Remembrance Day" was very fittingly observed in Redcliff Wednesday when a public service was held in St. Ambrose church under the direction and auspices of the local Legion.

The service was held at 10:15 a. m. At ten o'clock members of the Legion, the Ladies' Auxiliary and the local militia formed up at the Legion club rooms and marched to the church. In the opinion of all it was one of the finest processions ever held here. St. Ambrose was taxed to capacity to accommodate the large crowd of Veterans, soldiers, the Auxiliary and the public. Every available seat was occupied.

Here a most impressive service was held. After the opening prayers and the singing of appropriate hymns, Rev. R. E. Pow read a passage from the scripture from which Rev. M. Stewart, the vicar, based his remarks. After outlining the purpose of the gathering, Mr. Stewart reviewed those objects for which those whose memory we were honoring had made the supreme sacrifice, and reminded his hearers that even in these times of peace all should consider themselves still on active service to combat the forces of evil and use their efforts to make this a better and in which to live. Special emphasis was laid on the need to use all energies and influence in an effort to make it impossible to have such another war the close of which we are now commemorating. He said it was ordinary men who won the war and who made the supreme sacrifice, an ordinary man should be able to prevent another war. The speaker also expressed the opinion that there should be a memorial of some kind erected in Redcliff to the memory of those who had fallen.

Wm. Waters, rj., met with an accident while at work last week. At the time it was thought very slight, but blood poisoning developed from the wound and now Bill has a real sore hand. He was in the hospital for a few days but is now out around.

DRAMATIC CONTEST WAS GREAT SUCCESS

Anglican Church Players Get Sensation of The Judges

Between three and four hundred people packed the Cameo theatre to the doors last Friday evening to witness the first dramatic contest of the season.

While the judges, C. S. Blanchard, Rev. E. T. Scragg and Canon Western, were unanimous in seeing the Anglican players as the winners, they admitted that, owing to the great difference in the nature of the plays and the high degree of excellence attained by each cast in his and her own particular line, they had considerable difficulty in arriving at their decision.

Thevners had a good play well cast and put it over smoothly, without a hitch.

Between the first and second acts, Mayor Worts made the draw for the lucky numbers, the winners being Alex Maskell and Lily Knudsen. After the show Mr. Maskell donated his prize to the Red Cross for distribution among the needy. The prize was a large box of groceries.

In Honor Bound
The United Church players gave a really excellent rendering of a rather difficult social play. E. L. Stone, as Sir George Carlyon, was the most convincing. He lived the part every minute he was on the stage; his dialogue was free, his movements appropriate and his actions graceful. It was a clever interpretation, C. G. Pow as the sophisticated man of the world had a difficult role to take but he handled it in a pleasing manner and showed commendable control. Miss McCreary playing Lady Carlyon, should be complimented on her fine stage deportment. She was careful to contrast herself with his vivacity of Rose Churchill and so gave the play the variety which was essential to bring out the author's meaning. Miss Sellhorn as Rose, looked charming. Her voice was clear and her acting refreshing.

The Mockbeggar
The Anglican Church players came next with the winning production, "The Mockbeggar." B. Allison, as Dairymule the tramp, was the sensation of the evening. He looked the part and remained a character at all times. He was ably supported by Mrs. Kellert as his wife. This pair, while providing most of the comedy of the evening, were clever enough to drive home the moral of the play with brief moments of affection and pathos. It was really well done. R. Taylor and Mrs. Vernon as the run away society couple were also very convincing. They both showed considerable dramatic ability in the great moments of their speeches and they carried themselves well on the stage.

Fagin's Den

Then came the Red Cross Society with "Fagin's Den," a locally written vehicle. John Soukup as Sikes, the robber, and Jean Peterson as Nancy, gave the audience the first real thrill of the evening. Both displayed rare ability in the murder scene which would have done credit to more mature players. Doris Bainbridge and Ted Maskell staged an effective bowery dance and kept their parts up well to the end. Mack Martin, as Fagin, the Jew, gave an excellent interpretation of a difficult role. While Robert Pow as Oliver Twist, acted so frightened of the old Jew, that the audience thought he really was. Robert Buchholz as Dr. Lee, was particularly good, and Raymond Dubeau did his part as "The Dodger" in a fitting manner. The students received a great ovation from the audience on account of the fact that they helped to make the contest a close one while in competition with adult actors.

After the show the ladies on the committee in charge of the plays, served lunch in the parish hall. Mr. Stewart presided and called upon each of the judges to give his impressions of the performance. They all expressed themselves as being agreeably surprised with the excellence of the productions and emphasized the fact that all three of the competing organizations had good reason to feel proud of themselves.

After supper the orchestra, which provided such excellent music throughout the show, played for a short but enjoyable dance.

The idea of dramatic contests is now spreading to Medicine Hat and it is quite likely that an all-star cast from Redcliff will meet the best talent from the neighboring city in a competition to be staged in the Empress theatre, in the near future.

Hero of Ladysmith Passes in Redcliff

George Knight Was Victim of Self Inflicted Wounds

George Knight is dead. It is true. But since the people of Ladysmith, who it was learned that all indications pointed to suicide, as that was the last thing those we knew him ever thought George Knight would do.

The gruesome discovery was made by Lieut. Evans and E. L. Stone when the latter, not having seen deceased for two days, decided he must be ill, and got Mr. Evans to unlock the armory for investigation. Arriving at his bedroom they found lifeless body under an arm behind the bed. Town and provincial police were notified and at the request of the local Legion an inquest was held with Dr. McEwen as coroner. The following jury was empaneled: Messrs R. S. Hedge, foreman, A. C. Osgood, N. Dacre, A. E. Smith, A. Maxwell, and B. Allison.

After hearing the evidence the jury's verdict was that the deceased came to his death by a self inflicted wound, during a period of mental depression.

As deceased was a veteran of two wars and a guest in a few Canadian who was in the siege of Ladysmith, he was given a military funeral becoming his rank and long service. It might be added that it was just the kind of funeral George would have asked for if he had been consulted the matter. We might also add that the officers and men of the local militia are to be highly complimented for the very excellent manner in which the firing squad conducted the ceremony. In the absence of a bugler piper Hosie sounded the last post.

Deceased was 59 years of age and unmarried. He has been a resident of Redcliff for the past eleven years. George Knight was a loyal Britisher who had given the best years of his life in the service for his king and country.

WEDDING BELLS

Jackson-Kenworthy
Garden Memorial home was the scene of a very happy event on Thursday evening, November 5th when Ethel Mary Kenworthy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. S. Kenworthy of Verlo, Saskatchewan became the bride of Wm. Jackson of Verlo Saskatchewan. Mrs. Rosworth of Verlo and Mrs. Harper of Redcliff, sisters of the bride, stood up as witnesses. Mrs. Kenworthy, mother of the bride, was also present, and Rev. R. Erskine Pow performed the ceremony. After a few days sojourn in Redcliff the happy couple will return to Verlo to make their home there. They are at present staying with their sister, Mrs. Ed Harper.

"Pack up Your Troubles — and Smile! Smile!! Smile!!!"

The famous war-time marching chorus might well have served as the theme-song for the events in connection with McGill University's 121st Convocation, as can be seen from the faces in the above group, which includes four distinguished Canadians granted honorary degrees at the great gathering in Montreal. Dr. W. W. Beatty, K.C., Chairman and President of the Canadian Pacific Railway and Chancellor of McGill, (third from right), seems to be the ring-leader in the cheerfulness movement. It would be difficult to find a group more typical of Canadian affairs; and just look how that infectious smile has done its work! Left to right: F. W. McLennan, eminent Canadian mining engineer; A. C. Rutherford, Chancellor of the University of Alberta; Dr. Hon. R. B. Bennett, Prime Minister of Canada; Mr. Beatty; Dr. Harvey Smith and Sir Arthur Currie, President of McGill University. The lower picture shows Mr. Bennett and Mr. Beatty, about to leave Sir Arthur Currie's house for the Campus, in a carriage drawn by a team of students. Note the "No Parking" sign, adopted by the "state coachman" as his staff of office. It was a memorable day. Everyone smiled—even the Weather Man!

Warns Against Insect Menace

Only Weapon Man Has Is His Mind

Says Dr. Howard

The warning that man faces a war for existence against his oldest and most dangerous enemy—the insect—is given by Dr. L. C. Howard, former chief entomologist of the United States Department of Agriculture, in his book, "The Insect Menace," published by the Century Company. This menace to civilization now means an economic loss to the world of $2,000,000,000 a year, the author writes.

Dr. Howard believes that the insect world is far better equipped than man to conquer this planet and to make it its own completely. If we base our appraisals on almost any other standard than the relative size of insects and man, "this era would seem to be the insect Age of Man," Dr. Howard maintains. The only weapon man possesses which gives him a chance to dominate the bug is his mind, the entomologist points out.

"Taken as a whole, the insects are the most successful of all the forms of terrestrial animals," Dr. Howard says. "Strong, aggressive, multiplying with almost inconceivable rapidity and possessing of an antiquity and longevity of man by at least 40,000,000 years, it would seem as though the insects were quite the most permanent and persistent life on this planet. They have evolved. They are our rivals here on earth, and probably the last living thing on the globe will be some insect sitting on a dead insect which will represent the last of the life of the plants."

Dr. Howard says that man himself is largely to blame for the increase in the number of insects throughout the ages. Humanity, since it began to cultivate crops and to create conditions peculiarly favorable to certain kinds of insects, has encouraged their multiplication.

"Some of the greatest menaces to agriculture in the United States," the author adds, "have met with overwhelming treatment on the part of the American farmer. Take, for example, the cotton boll-weevil and the European corn-borer. The former would not have spread over the whole cotton belt and caused hundreds of millions of dollars' worth of damage had it not found, on crossing the Rio Grande, that cotton was planted and cultivated and harvested in precisely the way to encourage the multiplication of the weevil and to hasten its spread to an extreme. The corn-borer would not today be the menace it is to our greatest agricultural crop if we did not grow the crop just as we do in enormous fields, leaving the stalks to stand through the winter."

Dr. Howard urges farmers to change their methods of crop-growing and make greater use of defensive weapons such as chemicals and airplanes in the fight against insects. He adds that the government of the United States easily leads the world in the insect war by its carefully organized bureau of entomology, and concludes, with the hope that man's awakening to the menace will lead to a program to meet it successfully.

Cause Of Cancer

No Nearer Solution Of Problem Than When Research Work Commenced

Sir George Lenthal Cheatle, consulting surgeon of King's College Hospital in London, England, and this year's recipient of the Royal College of Surgeons' award for research into cancer treatment, declared he had found no nearer solution in treating cancer of the breast.

"We are no nearer to a solution of the cause of cancer today," he said, "than when we first began trying to fathom the cause."

Shipping Fever

Great Care Should Be Taken In Handling Of Livestock In Transit

Much of the serious loss which at times occurs in shipments of stock and feeder cattle in transit may be prevented, though, the exercise of greater care in handling and feeding. The disease is caused by a germ which exists as a harmless organism in the body of healthy animals, in the soil, and elsewhere in localities frequented by animals, said it is widely distributed in nature. There is no cure for the disease once it develops but so long as the animal is in good condition and normally vigorous the germ remains harmless. It is when the animal's vitality is lowered through the hardships of travel and exposure that these germs change from a harmless state to one producing disease and death.

In a statement recently issued the Hon. R. B. Weir, Minister of Agriculture, urges observance of the following simple rules to prevent "shipping fever":

Ship only cattle in good vigorous condition.

Take plenty of time in driving cattle across country to prevent fatigue, and give them sufficient time to rest before loading.

Upon arrival at the yards without water, feed the cattle before resting, then allow a simple clean; do not let them fill up. Feed clean, well-watered hay and before loading water again.

Do not overcrowd incars, and in cold weather feed the cattle well. Feed and allow plenty of time for the cattle to rest whenever they are unloaded.

Too much care cannot be exercised in providing sufficient rest stops to prevent fatigue, and proper feeding and watering are essential. If these losses are to be prevented.

Upon arrival at the yards the cattle should be given special care until they have recovered from the lower-half of their vitality, which is inseparable from shipment.

Huge Fire Losses

Loss In Canada During Past Ten Years Reaches Appalling Sum

Of $415,000,000

During the past ten years 386,000 fires in Canada have destroyed property valued at $415,000,000 and 9,898 persons injured seriously by fire.

These figures were given out at Ottawa by J. Grove Smith, Dominion Fire Commissioner. In the course of an appeal for observance of fire prevention week.

Last year 39,000 fires were reported, a property loss of $461,100,000.

"If we analyze these figures," Mr. Smith said, "it is a better grasp of the magnitude of the problem. The average annual waste by fire in Canada represents an expenditure of $280,000 daily or roughly $200 for every subject throughout the year. Capitalized at five per cent, it represents the gigantic sum of over $2,000,000,000 which is only a little less than our present national debt."

Loss To Manitoba

Dr. Murdoch, Of Manitoba University, Leaves For Minnesota

Dr. R. W. Murdoch, head of the Department of Economics and Sociology at Manitoba Agricultural College, has accepted the position of Professor of Rural Sociology and Director of Rural Social Research in the University of Minnesota. Dr. Murdoch has been on the staff of the Manitoba Agricultural College since 1915, and his departure will be a great loss to Manitoba and Canada.

During his tenure of office in Manitoba he has planned in many directions of social and economic research. Along with Dr. Riddell, now with the League of Nations, he has conducted the first survey in Canada of the Rural Church and Community Organizations.

He has served on various commissions on rural problems and has published several reports on these studies among which are "The Unemployed Lands of Manitoba," and "Seasonal Unemployment."

Survey Northern Section

A special despatch states that the Saskatchewan Research Council has authorized a survey of northern sections of the province where the land area is broken by lakes and rivers and is believed that the customary sectional and quarter-sectional survey would not prove to be satisfactory.

Two In One

"According to 'Punch,' a well known magazine says that the best way to get the most out of life is to fall in love with a beautiful woman or a great problem. Why not choose the former and get both?"

Some Famous Pessimists

Even Most Brilliant Men Looked On The Dark Side

In a recent address at Regina, Mr. George C. McDonald, of Montreal, chairman of the executive of the Canadian Chambers of Commerce, provided a most interesting paragraph which showed that pessimists as a rule are dashed of gift of accurate prophecy. His citations deserve attention from those who seem to think present world conditions will never present themselves. "William Pitt said that there is nothing around us that is gathering about us," Disraeli (1840) said that "the industrial, commercial and agricultural, there was no Ham IV, said 'the had only one desire—to play the part of Marie Antoinette with bravery in the revolution. That was comical on Napoleon (Lord Shaftesbury (1868), said that 'nothing could save the British Empire from shipwreck.' The old adage about the silver lining may sound bromidic, but to sound it by human hands, experience—Detroit Saturday Night."

China Buys Canadian Cows

B.C. Ayrshire Breeders' Association Receives Order For Fifty Head

An order from China for 50 head of registered Ayrshire cows has been received by the British Columbia Ayrshire Breeders' Association. The cows are to be from two and a half years to six years at time of freshening and shipment is to be made to the Hong Kong Dairy and Cold Storage Company.

Some time ago an order for ten registered cows per month was placed with the British Columbia Ayrshire Association by buyers in China. In the past few years some substantial orders for pure bred dairy cows have been received by breeders in B.C. from the Orient. The journey from Vancouver to Peking does not affect the cattle in any way to their detriment.

Wilhelm Becomes Religious

Ex-Kaiser Wilhelm is reported to have become more devoted to religious services than ever. The first thing every morning he reads his Bible, and has religious services at 10 o'clock. In the afternoon he reads religious books, and prayers are a feature of the evening. He is known to have written many of the sermons he has afterwards had preached to him.

Handling Of Grain

Valuable Hand Book Dealing With This Subject Has Been Issued

A "Hand Book on the Sale and Handling of Grain Through a County Elevator," by T. J. Harrison, Assistant Grain Commissioner for Manitoba, has been issued by the Board of Grain Commissioners for Canada.

The purpose of this "little booklet" is to make available in simple language a statement of the provisions of the Canada Grain Act which is administered by the Board to make the procedure in the handling of grain clear and thus prevent misunderstanding between farmers and elevator operators.

The descriptive section is divided into six parts with appendices. Part I, deals with the Canada Grain Act; Part II, with grain elevators; Part III, Storage grain in a public elevator; Part IV, the sale of grain; Part V, Cash advances on grain; and Part VI, Shipping the grain. The appendices include "Grain Bonds," "Shrinkage Table," "Statutory Grades of Western Grain," and "Minimum and Maximum Carloads of Grain."

Englishman's Novel Idea

Houses Poultry In Old Omnibuses Purchased At Small Cost

Some people have novel ideas about the housing of poultry. Old omnibuses purchased at $25 each show how formidable man's conception of truly economical poultry houses. Provided they are weather-light, they should answer the purpose. Certainly the birds will have all the light there is in the darkest days of winter.

"Houses on wheels," with slatted floors, have become very popular in England during the past year. These small "houses" hold about 80 birds, are ideally suited to birds on open range.

The slats of which the floor consists take the place of perches and with provision for mash hopper and water trough inside they provide economical housing, preferable in many ways to the large fixed type of laying house. It is a great advantage to be able to move the hen houses on to fresh ground frequently, during mild weather, and in smaller flocks the birds do better. For the permanent, large scale, laying house it must be said that concentration makes for economical housing in feeding, egg collections and cleaning.

Had Much Travelled Car

As Carried Freight All Over States and Canada

Central Vermont Freight car No. 11488 finally reached "home" after 28 months of constant wanderings, which took it into every state, and every province of Canada, except Nova Scotia, and going even to Mexico. Built at Pittsburgh in 1929, it commenced its travels, and although built for automobile use, it has carried wheat, pulpwood and other commodities. It has travelled 38,000 miles. The records of its wanderings is a tribute to the efficient manner of keeping car records, which makes it possible for cars to be located wherever they may be. Also, the "per diem" payments of $1 a day for use of other roads' cars are set forth on the basis of such records.

Musicians Hate Cats

"I have a horror of cats," Mark Hambourg, the famous pianist, declared in an interview at Sydney. "If there is a cat in the room either it or I must go. It is generally the cat that leaves. I can tell at once when I enter a room if there is a cat and, even if it is under the sofa. It began so far back in my life that I cannot remember the first shadow. I have been laughed at, and I have laughed at myself, but nothing will cure me."

Greatness may doubt its own importance but egotism never does. Europeans now in French Morocco number 260,000.

What Quebec Does For Tourists

Province Has Nearly 5,000 Miles Of Hard Surface Roads

In the last 30 years $135,000,000 has been spent to extend and improve the roads in the Province of Quebec. There are now 15,000 miles of roads in the province surfaced with concrete, macadam or gravel. The total length of highways have a total length of 6,400 miles. These roads are linked with all the other roads in the Province of Quebec and with the principal roads in the neighboring States of the U.S.A.

The Quebec provincial road system includes nearly 3,000 miles of hard surface roads, such as cement or bituminous concrete or other macadam. As a general rule the program of construction provides for a pavement 20 feet wide. In the last four years nearly 800 miles of main roads have been widened and paved, in order to meet the requirements that modern traffic demands.

With the reorganization and improvement of the Quebec road system every district in the province is covered in a part of 894,484 square miles, is a part of the elaborate network of roads for the most attractive looking premises. Incidentally most of the prize winners to date have been women.

Another feature introduced by the Quebec Government for the benefit of tourists is the "household" system, these actually employed in rural hotels or those who may be considered employment in such establishments. These courtesies are held periodically at the Provincial Household Schools at Montreal. The result is that the visitor to the Province of Quebec may be assured of being served with a meal at a wayside inn cooked and served as if it were his own home.

Quality Indicated By Tag

One System Of Grading and Marking For Poultry

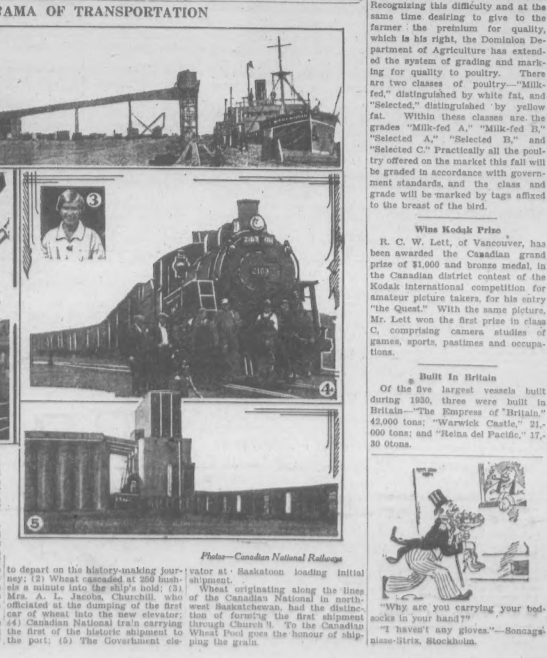

The average person probably finds greater difficulty in choosing good dressed poultry than in selecting any other class of meat for the table. Recognizing this difficulty, at the same time desiring to give to the farmer the premium for quality, which is his right, the Dominion Department of Agriculture has extended the system of grading and marking for quality to poultry. There are two classes of poultry—poultry "distinguished by white fat, and 'selected,' distinguished by yellow fat. Within these classes are the grades "Milk-fed A," "Milk-fed B," "Selected A," "Selected B," and "Selected C." Practically all the poultry offered on the market this fall will be graded in accordance with government standards, and the class and grade will be marked by tags affixed to the breast of the bird.

STAY WITH THE WHEAT POOL

In commenting on the delivery of wheat to Pool elevators in the prairie provinces, The Northwestern Miller, never very friendly to the Pool movement, says: "There is reason to believe that all three Pools have up to the present enjoyed their usual quota of grain handlings in the country. Such conditions in a year of short crops and keen country buying, bespeaks the loyalty of the western farmer to the organization, he has built up."

The solidarity of purpose manifested by the grain growers of the west wings grudging praise even from opponents. Do not let up for a minute.

See that All Your Grain goes to Alberta Pool elevators.

You can pool your wheat or sell for cash at current market prices.
